

Join us in honor of Shmita and Tu B'shevat

Edible Home Landscapes

From saving seeds to harvesting from your trees

Think beyond grocery stores, farmers markets, and CSAs – what if healthy foods were right outside your kitchen door? Local plant guru Erica Kempter from Nature and Nurture Seeds will educate us on soils, seeds and trees needed to create edible landscapes at home.

Sunday, February 1, 2015, 1 pm – 3 pm

Jewish Community Center of Greater Ann Arbor
2935 Birch Hollow Drive, Ann Arbor, MI 48108

Dialogue, text study, hands-on learning, and refreshments. Admission is free, but please pre-register! <http://foodlandjustice-ediblelandscape.eventbrite.com>

Organized by the Ann Arbor Reconstructionist Congregation, Pardes Hannah and the Jewish Alliance for Food, Land, and Justice.

This event made possible in part with support from the Jewish Federation of Greater Ann Arbor.

